PRESIDENT MADE ADDRESS IN GEORGIA

ONE JOB FEDERAL GOVERNMENT RAISE PURCHASING POWER

ROOSEVELT SPOKE AT GEORGIA UNIVERSITY WHERE DEGREE GIVEN

By WILLIAM B. ARDERY
ATHENS, Ga., Aug. 11.—(P)—President Roosevelt said today that one job of the national government is "to raise purchasing power and thereby create wealth in those sections where it is far too low."

The Chief Executive spoke at the University of Georgia, where he received an honorary degree. Devoting much of his address to a discussion of educational and economic conditions in the south, he did not refer directly to the wage-hour measure, enacted after a long fight by the last congress. Neither did he refer, in his prepared talk to the Georgia political situation. At Warm Springs yesterday, Mr. Roosevelt said he hoped Lawrence S. Camp, an administration supporter, would be the next senator from Georgia.

Camp is among the opponents of Senator Walter F. George, who opposed wage-hour and other administration measures. George is seeking re-election in the September 14 democratic primary. Discussing the duties of the federal government toward state and local educational objectives, Mr. Roosevelt called today for "constant progressive action" on both educational and economic fronts.

The "Better Way," he said, "better than following either those who want to slow up or those who promise they will hand you the moon on a silver platter a week after they are elected."

He said there was a definite connection between tax-financed education and economic conditions in various sections. "In the long run," he said, "the best way for your national government to assist state and local educational objectives is to tackle the national aspects of economic problems." Government, he asserted, should seek to prevent the waste of natural resources, encourage each section to become financially independent and "take the lead in establishing social security."

"Obviously," he said, "the federal government can not carry the load alone. In education, for example, See Roosevelt, Page 2

Slaying Of 11,000 Clerics Charged Against Spanish

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—(P)—The slaying of at least 11,000 clerics was charged against Spanish government forces today by the Rt. Rev. Karl Joseph Alter, bishop of Toledo, Ohio. Bishop Alter, who returned from the Eucharistic Congress at Naples aboard the Italian liner Saturnia, said he had spent four weeks behind the lines of General Franco studying conditions among the civilian population. "Clerics showed," he said, "that they desecrated the cemeteries, violated the graves, and opened the tombs above ground, dragged out the bones and in some cases used the tombs to make their beds in."

SLICKER, THE SEAL, STEALS SPOTLIGHT IN PICTURE FROM TRIO OF STARRED THESPIANS

By DAN DE LUCE
HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 11.—(P)—Slicker, the seal, gave Hollywood the horse laugh today. And Hollywood deserved it. The "year-old bewhiskered" playboy of the Pacific is the most surprising movie news of the week; He "stole" a $1,400,000 picture. The larceny, what's worse, was committed under the very noses of George Raft, Dorothy Lamour and John Barrymore, who had been assured by some of our brighter minds that there was nothing to worry about, because a seal couldn't act. Slicker showed them. Others may get the star billing in "Spawn of the North," the new super-thriller about Alaskan

OKLAHOMA GOVERNOR REVIEWED MILITIA OF STATE ON THURSDAY

NATIONAL GUARDSMEN AND REGULAR ARMY TROOPS START MANEUVERS

By OLEN W. CLEMENTS
CAMP BULLIS, Aug. 11.—(P)—Dust rose on the parade ground today as Governor E. W. Marland of Oklahoma came down to this hill-walled third-army encampment to review national guardsmen from his state. The Oklahoma governor, who recently was defeated for the democratic nomination to the United States senate, was greeted by Major General William S. Key who failed to get the Oklahoma Democratic nomination for governor in the same primary.

A nineteen gun salute was fired by battery A of the 160th Field Artillery as troops of the 178th Infantry division, where General Claude V. Birkhead, commander of the 38th division, a Texas unit of the third army, greeted him. Even as the military and civil authorities went through their formal reception, the majority of the 26,000 troops were out in the mesquite covered hills banging away in practice for Sunday's scheduled "battle" in which brown and blue forces will begin a four

AUTOMOTIVE PLANTS PREPARING PRODUCE NEW MODELS CARS

THOUSANDS OF MEN CALLED BACK TO WORK IN DETROIT AREA

DETROIT, Aug. 11.—(P)—Industrial Detroit, so often the nation's economic barometer, moved at quicker tempo today as the automotive plants prepared for production of 1939 models. Thousands of men were called back to work and 1,200 families were withdrawn from the welfare rolls in the last two days. An executive of General Motors Corporation said its parts plants had started production for 1939 assemblies and that all units in the Detroit area would be in operation by the middle of September. Ford Motor Co. resumed steel production. Three open hearth furnaces were lighted. Three hundred men went back to work on Ford Steel. The Rolling Mills are to start operation in a few days. Ford has built six furnaces during the recession as part of a $34,000,000 expansion program. At nearby Toledo, David R. Wilson, president of Willys-Overland Motors, announced that 1,000 men would be recalled by Aug. 15 for assembly line operations by Aug. 22.

HUNDREDS KILLED IN JAPANESE AIR RAIDS THURSDAY

MANY KILLED ON CHURCH MISSION CAMPUSES IN WUCHANG BY BOMBS

HANKOW, China, Aug. 11.—(P)—Japanese air raiders killed an undetermined number of Chinese today on the campuses of the American Church (Episcopal) Mission's Boone University and St. Hilda's girls' school at Wuchang.

Twenty-seven planes heavily bombed Hankow and Wuchang, across the Yangtze river from Hankow, provisional Chinese capital, in the afternoon raid. Preliminary estimates placed the total casualties in the two cities at more than 500 but it was feared the toll would be much higher as rescue squad dug desperately in the wrecks of buildings.

One bomb scored a direct hit on the Boone University where a number of Chinese civilians had taken refuge. Another missile exploded outside St. Hilda's, the concussion bowing in the walls.

Preliminary estimates of the casualties placed the toll in Wuchang at 400 and in Hankow at 100. Of the three Wuchang cities, Wuchang, Hanyang and Hankow, only Hankow escaped punishment.

An accurate count of the dead and injured was impossible until rescue squads had completed the task of clearing the wreckage of a hundred houses and a large school building in which it was feared 200 civilians took refuge during the raid.

Hanyang's crowded waterside boat colony suffered heavily as bombs falling at the confluence of the Han and Yangtze rivers sank more than a score of junks, killed many and wounding approximately 100 Chinese.

Adjacent riverside structures were set on fire by the bombs and the flames were brought under control only after a three-hour battle by firemen.

Rainstorms Pour Over Many Parts North And East

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Early morning rainstorms which reached near cloudburst proportions in New York State poured over many sections of the north-east Middle Atlantic today endangering shipping on Lake Erie and causing considerable damage to property and crops.

Twenty-five persons in six boats, who had been missing on storm lashed Lake Erie, were rescued or made their way to safety.

Two fishermen were rescued and a third was missing after their motorboat sank off Sandy Hook, N. J.

Lightning struck the union station in Washington, D. C., splintered a flagpole on the United States Treasury building and started a fire in the wiring of the department of agriculture building.

The storm brought temporary respite from 90 degree heat in the capital.

New York City was hit by the tail of the storm, which caused postponement of the Armstrong Ambers lightweight championship fight last night.

In Kansas City the mercury dipped 33 degrees overnight from the year's high of 103.

SENATOR HATTIE CARAWAY'S VICTORY ENCOURAGES OTHER WOMEN SEEK POLITICAL JOBS

BIG GERMAN PLANE COMPLETES BERLIN TO NEW YORK FLIGHT

FOUR-MOTORED TRANSPORT PLANE MAKES NON-STOP HOP OF 3942 MILES

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—(P)—Completing the first non-stop flight between Berlin and New York westward over the North Atlantic ever attempted, the four-motored German transport plane "Brandenburg" came to rest on Floyd Bennett Airport today at 2:53 p. m. C.S.T.

The 19-ton machine, which normally carries 24 passengers but carried only a four-man crew on the 3,952 mile trip from the German capital, had been in the air for exactly 25 hours.

The official time of the flight was 24 hours, 54 minutes, however, because arrival was timed by its passage over the field administration building. The ship circled the field several times before landing.

Its takeoff, unannounced, the "Brandenburg" was on its way hours before the attempt became known generally. Once it began contacting wireless stations on this side of the Atlantic, however, its progress was charted with regularity.

It had averaged 170 miles an hour up to the time it reached Boston with Capt. Alfred Henke at the controls.

The members of its crew were Flight Captain Rudolf von Moreau, co-pilot; Paul Dierberg, flight engineer, and Fritz Kober, radio operator.

The offices of Deutsche Luft Hansa, which used the same type of machine on some of its European routes, said the flight was purely experimental, "to show the feasibility of commercial non-stop travel from Germany to this country."

BOSTON, Aug. 11.—(P)—The German trans-Atlantic plane Brandenburg reported through the Radio Marine corporation's Chatham station at 2 p. m. (EST) she was over Long Island Sound and expected to reach her New York destination at 2:45 p.m.

The plane reported her position See PLANE, Page 7.

O'Connor Says American Morale Breaking Down

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—(P)—Representative O'Connor (D-N.Y.) said today there were "evidences of the breaking down of the morale of the people" and declared "no democratic form of government can survive this."

In a speech before the Rotary Club of New York, O'Connor, chairman of the powerful house rules committee, said:

"Make every person dependent on the government for his bread and butter and the rest is easy for the dictator. He often plans it that way."

"First make them come to the public trough—and then democracy and what we love as a republic disappears."

NEGRO, OBJECT OF INTENSIVE MANHUNT, CAPTURED THURSDAY

ARRESTED BY SHERIFF JIM SESSIONS IN RICHLAND CREEK BOTTOMS

A negro who had been the object of an intensive manhunt in this section since Sunday night was arrested in Richland Creek bottoms about noon Thursday by Sheriff Jim Sessions of Freestone county.

Sheriff Sessions telephoned Deputy Sheriff Alton Bradley of Freestone county at the noon hour. Details of the capture were not complete here early Thursday afternoon as the posses of officers and citizens searching the country had not returned.

The negro eluded capture near Magnolia Lake, Southeast of Corsicana, Wednesday afternoon in a hail of pistol fire officers reported, after he had been sighted by officers.

Wanted For Robbery. The prisoner is wanted on a robbery with firearms charge at burglary at Fairfield, local officers said, in addition to being sought in connection with a gun battle at Waco with officers Sunday night with negroes.

Two arrests were made. The sought prisoner was sighted by Sheriff Rufus Pevehouse early Thursday morning as he (the prisoner) dashed to cover in the timber lands of Richland creek below Navarro.

Officers reported that the accused negro was sighted near See NEGRO, Page 9.

SOCIAL SECURITY WEEK IN TEXAS IS PROCLAIMED TODAY

GOVERNOR ALLRED ASKS CITIZENS TO SECURE INFORMATION ON MATTER

AUSTIN, Aug. 11.—(P)—Social security week in Texas, beginning Aug. 14, was proclaimed today by Governor James V. Allred who asked citizens to "acquaint themselves with efforts of state and federal governments to bring about a greater measure of security for the individual."

The chief executive pointed out Aug. 14 is the third anniversary of the signing of the social security act, "the most significant national legislation ever enacted for the general welfare of the American people."

The proclamation said in part: "Old age assistance has brought aid to needy old people, unemployment compensation has proved a boon to jobless workers, and humanity has been served through the extension of child welfare, maternal and child health, crippled children, vocational rehabilitation and public health services."

"We should consider further the fact that Texas is one of a small number of states which have not provided assistance to their dependent children and needy blind."

GIRDLER DEMANDS SENATE PROBE OF STRIKE VIOLENCE

REPUBLIC STEEL CHAIRMAN CAUSTIC IN STATEMENTS BEFORE COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—(P)—Tom Girdler, telling Republic Steel corporation's version of last summer's steel strikes, bemoaned today what he described the legalization of barriers between labor and management.

"Back in 1919," the corporation chairman told the senate civil liberties committee, "you were commended if you had close relations with your men if you let them tell you what they thought and told them what you thought."

"Now it's an unfair labor practice if you tell them what you think."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—(P)—Tom Girdler, chairman of the board of the Republic Steel Corporation, denounced today a senate investigation of "violence and intimidation" by the C. I. O. in last summer's "little steel" strike.

Criticizing the senate civil liberties committee investigation of the strike as being "one-sided," the blunt-spoken steel executive declared it would be only fair to subpoena C. I. O. records to show to what use the steel workers' organizing committee put a $1,500,000 fund.

Wallace Urges Farmers Defend Farm Programs

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—(P)—Secretary Wallace urged farmers today to defend "your farm programs" against "enemies" who, he said, sought to destroy agriculture by advancing price-fixing and export-dumping substitute for the new farm law.

The administration farm chief envisioned a "return to 1932" with four-cent cotton, 30 cent wheat and three-cent hogs unless "we get genuine and complete compliance" with present programs.

Many Missing On Storm-Lashed Lake Erie Are Rescued

CLEVELAND, Aug. 11.—(P)—Twenty-five persons in six boats, missing on the storm-lashed Lake Erie, were rescued or made their way to safety today.

The last to be found safe were six members of a Mansfield, O., fishing party, including three ministers of the United Lutheran church, who cruised into Sandusky under their own power after pulling into Middle Island to ride out the storm. They had rescued for his 1930 Sandusky in a helplessly-drifting boat.

A short time before, a coast guard cutter picked up near Toledo four Toledo yachtsmen, returning from the Erie Lake Yacht Regatta at Put-In-Bay, and two young couples in another boat from North Shores, Mich.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—(P)—Douglas Corrigan arrived in an American Air Lines plane today from Washington.

"I didn't do anything for aviation, but my plane did." Beamed Mulligan, director of the Federal Air Commerce bureau, to the man whose flying license he had suspended. "What about explaining your conduct?" Corrigan: "There's nothing much to explain except that I flew on the wrong end of the needle of the compass and got to Ireland instead of California."

BOTH SIDES AGREE TO TRUCE THAT ENDS BORDER HOSTILITIES

ALL POINTS OF DISPUTE NOT CLEARED UP AND PEACE NOT YET ASSURED

By WADE WERNER
MOSCOW, Aug. 11.—(P)—The vest-pocket war on the Siberian frontier, which threatened to involve Russia and Japan in a major conflict, appeared well on the way to peaceful settlement this morning.

Both sides agreed to a truce after a peace parley between the Soviet Russian minister, Maxim Litvinoff, and the Japanese ambassador, Mamoru Shigemitsu, and to order their forces to cease military operations at noon today Changkufeng time 9 p.m. Wednesday (C.S.T.)

Not all points of the dispute over the frontier position about Yuki, center of trouble since July 11 were cleared up by the agreement. The main, for re-defending the border remained a thorny problem which could start new quarrels.

The main point was settled, however. Both sides agreed to stop fighting.

A communique announced Japan and Russia had decided that their respective troops would remain in position. They held at midnight August 10.

A commission of two Soviet representatives and two Japanese-Manchouquo representatives was agreed upon to deal with demarcation of the frontier.

The Soviet communique this morning specifically stated, however, that "agreement had not been reached about the basis for work of the demarcation commission."

In other words, Tokyo had not agreed to recognize maps attached to the Hunchun treaty of 1886, based in Russian and Chinese, which Moscow heretofore has insisted must be recognized as authoritative in determining the boundary.

Japan has held the Hunchun treaty maps as never revised and that Japan has no knowledge of their content and therefore should not be expected to accept them as a basis for boundary negotiations.

The agreement started negotiations for final settlement of the border incident, foreign observers here noted that the incident was not definitely ended, because the frontier forces themselves might be involved in a new outbreak or the commission negotiations might break down.

RATTAN AND BAMBOO FURNITURE IS AT HOME ALL OVER THE HOUSE

Bamboo has broken the bonds that made it useful only for summer porches.

By MARY DAVIS GILLIES
Prepared by McCall's Magazine

Rattan and bamboo are now real furniture—and for the whole house.

There's no "summer porch look" to the new pieces, because modern designers have performed their magic, especially Paul T. Frankl. It started in California and Florida and its popularity is going east and north fast. Of course, the new rattan and bamboo are good companions for modern straight-line furniture. But specially smart is the way they combine with such woods as bleached maple for a bedroom set or teakwood for a dining table.

For the main rooms of the house, the rattan and bamboo are usually bleached and combined with bleached or contrasting dark woods.

In a living room with regular upholstered furniture, a square rattan table finds itself surprisingly at home. So do a rattan and teakwood dining table and rattan chairs next to a modern sideboard of Oregon pine.

The upholstery, naturally, must be carefully chosen—and a heavy textured plain or patterned material usually is best. But novelty in hatching, leather or the new rayon nubby textures give striking effects.

Woodweave is another new material for furniture. And it's excellent for window shades and screens.

These new materials are already in the settings of smart houses in the movies. So it won't be long now!

ENGLAND ALLEGES ITALY HAS BROKEN SPANISH AGREEMENT

MATTER BROUGHT TO ATTENTION ITALIAN GOVERNMENT; NO REPLY

LONDON, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Great Britain was disclosed today to have called Italy's attention to "certain allegations" that she has sent new troops to help the Spanish insurgents despite her understanding with Britain and her non-intervention commitments.

The matter was brought to the Italian government's attention both here and in Rome. Italy has not replied to the British ultimatum. Britain pointed out that France was "placed in a very embarrassing position" by the allegations—made by opposition members of parliament before parliament's recent adjournment.

French Impatient. PARIS, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Mounting French impatience over the failure of the Spanish insurgents to commit themselves on the British plan for withdrawal of foreign fighters from Spain was reflected today in a series of conferences at the foreign office.

Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet was understood to have made clear that France cannot keep her borders closed indefinitely against help for the Spanish government.

Anxiety here was increased by a message from Erich Laboratory, French ambassador in government Spain, that the Barcelona government was not disposed to stand by its acceptance of the withdrawal proposal if the insurgents do not agree to it quickly.

Washington should not and can not rightly subsidize public education throughout the United States. Education should be run by the states and their subdivisions.

Saying that a group in the south had questioned why pay in this section was low, why roads were poor and why medical and school facilities were improperly maintained, the Chief Executive continued:

"I do not mince words, because, first of all, I have a right—a nation-wide right, a state right and withal a sympathetic and understanding right to speak them, and secondly, because, as well as I know them to be true.

"It may not be polite, but it is good American idealism to recognize, to state boldly, that in 1932 conditions in the lower south were as bad as the bottom of the national scale.

"At the same time, let us rejoice and take pride in the undoubted fact that in these past six years the south has made greater economic and social progress up the scale than at any other period in her long history. It is my objective and yours to maintain that march and to accelerate its pace."

Roosevelt Speaks In Georgia Thursday

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Aug. 11.—(AP)—President Roosevelt called for the election of a new deal supporter over an incumbent Senator, mapped a cross-country route through Georgia for two addresses today.

The President, speaking informally at the Warm Springs foundation yesterday, said he hoped that Lawrence S. Camp, U. S. District attorney at Atlanta, "will be the next senator from this state."

Speaking at Athens, Ga., this morning, the President will receive an honorary degree from the University of Georgia.

Then, doubling back southward he arranged to speak at a rural electrification administration celebration in Barnesville.

Mr. Roosevelt's address yesterday was completely unexpected. It was made before patients of the Warm Springs foundation. Camp sat at one side of the President and Governor E. D. Rivers on the other.

George is scheduled to be among the President's audience at Barnesville, and later center of how he would react to Mr. Roosevelt's endorsement of Camp.

Advised in Atlanta of the Presidential utterance, Mr. Camp, George said: "I will not comment at this time, but I will be at Barnesville."

At Barnesville the President will touch a switch which will start electricity to 357 families along 144 miles of wire. The project cost $127,000.

Business Gain Seen By Roper Along All Lines

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Secretary Roper declares an early summer gain in business morale has manifested itself in actual business progress.

These gains, the commerce department chief said late yesterday on returning to work after a European vacation, have been spread "all along the line, and indications point to further momentum through the fall."

"The significance of this improvement has been increased employment and larger payrolls in numerous industries," he added.

Roper said it was not desirable that the upward trend reach proportions, but that he hoped "the advance will be on a safe and sound foundation."

Activity Begins Early.

Long before dawn, bands were playing and soldiers were marching and guns were popping in the hills as the Texas and Oklahoma National guardsmen, augmented by regular army soldiers from Fort Sam Houston and Fort Sill of the eighth corps area, took to the field to study the military problems that will confront them when the sham battle opens.

The sun beat down on the fabric-helmeted troops as they scattered in detachments over this 273 square mile area, which will become a battle ground beginning Sunday.

Since Saturday the 8,800 regular army officers and men and the 16,400 officers and national guardsmen from Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona, have been drilling for the maneuvers on this 20,000 acre military reservation.

Late today Major General Albert H. Blanding, chief of the national guard bureau and commander of the brown attacking forces in the recent maneuvers at De Soto, Miss., will fly here to visit Adjutant General of Texas and Oklahoma, senior national guard commanders and to observe the general state of training.

BRITISH SHIP HIT DURING VALENCIA AIR RAID THURSDAY

MADRID, Aug. 11.—(AP)—The British ship Stanlake was struck by machine-gun bullets today in an insurgent air raid on Valencia's harbor district, the Spanish (government) press agency reported.

It said the ship was not struck by bombs and there were no casualties aboard. Fifty bombs fell along the waterfront but caused no injuries.

Five buildings were destroyed in another air raid by five Italian-type insurgent bombers. Six persons were injured.

About 100 bombs fell in the San Julian quarter and in an outlying workers' district.

PAIRINGS MADE FOR SENIOR LOOP START SATURDAY

JUNIOR DIVISION HAS ONE WEEK MORE IN REG- ULAR SCHEDULE

By PAUL MOORE, Sun Sports Editor.

Plans were outlined for the play-off series in the two divisions of the Navarro County Baseball league at a meeting of officials and directors Tuesday night. The sessions were held at the Y.M.C.A. The senior division play-off between the high four clubs gets under way Saturday in a Shaggy series. The schedule for this division has been completed. One week remains on the schedule of the junior division and then the two high teams in the percentage table will play a series to decide one of the finalists for the league title.

The four teams in the senior division will play three-game series and then the winners will play a series to determine the other finalist in the league title.

First Round Games.

Montfort and Emhouse clash Saturday at Magnolia. Park in Corsicana if that ground is available while the second will be played Sunday at Emhouse. The third, if necessary, will be played next week at the Magnolia diamond.

Bazette and Corsicana Cotton Mills will play one game Saturday and a double-header Sunday afternoon. This series will be played on the Cotton Mill diamond.

The final standing of the senior division is:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Bazette	10	5	.667
Cotton Mill	10	5	.667
Montfort	10	5	.667
Emhouse	9	6	.600
Dr. Pepper	4	11	.267
Nebo	2	13	.133

It will be seen that the four high clubs finished in a close contest. It was necessary for drawing of places to determine the opponents in the first round series.

Junior Contests.

In the junior division, Roane opposes Rural Shade while Byrd and Eureka play a double-header at Byrd Sunday to end the schedule. Rural Shade is a cinch for one place in the play-off. The outcome of this week-end's competition has considerable to do with which club is the opponent of Rural Shade. The two high clubs play in the junior division circuit will meet Saturday and Sunday, August 20-21, in a two out of three game series.

Present standing of the junior division is:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Rural Shade	6	2	.750
Roane	4	4	.500
Eureka	3	4	.429
Byrd	2	5	.286

SEATING CAPACITY OF RODEO ARENA BE OVER FIVE THOUSAND

AT COMPLETION TO COST APPROXIMATELY FIFTEEN THOUSAND DOLLARS

Construction of the rodeo arena or bowl at the Corsicana Live-stock and Agricultural Show located on Highway 31 east of Corsicana will get under way immediately. Contract was let by directors of the show Monday afternoon to E. E. Burkhardt. Materials will be furnished by Lyon-Gray Lumber Company. This bowl will embody the latest features in the construction of such affairs and the arena proper will have sufficient space for a regulation football field.

Seated Over 5,000.

The bowl will seat between 5,000 and 6,000 people. F. W. Smith, manager of the lumber company, stated Tuesday and will be 50 per cent larger than the main arena for the annual Fort Worth Fat Stock Show. The seats will be constructed around the arena in a bowl, the only open space being the entrance. The arena will be west of the two present buildings at the fair grounds. The area is practically cleared of trees at the present time.

The main entrance to the arena will be a ramp incline connecting with the aisles leading to the seats. There will be six inside exits.

The stands will be constructed from 100 per cent Wolmanized-treated timbers which will eliminate the necessity for painting. The base footings are of concrete with treated piling.

The general contract was for $11,500 while the lights and other equipment will be installed, estimated at approximately $2,500. Floodlights to furnish the illumination for night attractions will be supported on 60-foot poles.

Judges' Stand.

The judges' stand will be located over the entrance to the arena. Cattle pens will be outside of the bowl with runways from the pens under the stands into the chutes and arena.

The arena's dimensions are 260x120 feet inside of the fence. The latest conveniences will be embodied in the structure, Mr. Smith pointed out.

The public is invited to inspect the bowl during working hours. The job is to be completed by October 1.

Many box seats are being constructed for the reserved section. Blanding & Horn are the architects.

Conference School Heads Under Way At Texas A-M College

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 9.—(P)—A conference of county school superintendents and supervisors to study expenditure of school funds was under way here today and will continue through Thursday.

The visitors yesterday heard W. L. Hughes, head of the A. and M. college education department, say Texas people, in matters of school government, stubbornly resist any changes which would "bring our school system up to date" though cities of the country have led the way in governmental reform by discarding the aldermanic rule.

State Superintendent L. A. Woods, discussing how the school money was spent, said he felt that teachers were the ones suffering where the per capita cost was low.

COSTLY ELECTIONS

The U. S. Senate Committee on Campaign Expenditures finds itself unusually busy these days and anticipates being even more busy when the primaries
and elections are over. It has seen evidence of a good deal of "gutter politics"
and is convinced that too much money is being spent in too many contests. It warns that the primary race
is so bad in at least one state that whoever wins
will probably be challenged.

In 1926 the Senate refused to seat Senator Vare
of Pennsylvania and Senator Smith of Illinois because of the vast sums
spent in their campaigns.
This year history seems to be repeating.

It would be much better
if primary and election campaigns were conducted with a minimum outlay of money but a vigorous discussion of the issues and the qualifications of candidates.

MULTIPLE AIRSHIPS.

The more you think of the possibilities in that
pickaback airplane scheme,
the more attractive it grows. All it takes is a little constructive imagination.

Nature herself is suggestive. There is, for instance, the little "stute fish" which,
according to Kipling, steals a continuous ride on a whale, snugly ensconced
behind his host's right ear
—or maybe it is the left ear. Anyway, it should be possible to adapt that idea
to a mother-plane.

If the Mercury system is used, and it is probably better on the whole, the principle could be carried farther than has been done with the Maia and her child. There might be three or four planes, one above
another, all attached in the same way, and growing smaller and more agile toward the top of the flying pyramid. This would be on the principle first stated
in the old jingle: "Big fleas have little fleas upon their backs, that bite 'em; little fleas have lesser fleas, and so ad infinitum."

The mother ship could release all her offspring in a compact bunch at a given height, then the next in size could release the others higher up, and so on, and when the last little pickaback was let loose, it would be in a fine position
to explore the stratosphere.

THE JEFFERSON NICKEL

There is probably no reason why we shouldn't have new coins every little while,
just as we have new stamps.
Except, of course, that coin-collectors are not so numerous as stamp-collectors.
Also that people are inclined to be more critical of coins.

Anyway, we're going to have a new nickel, with Thomas Jefferson replacing the buffalo as our national fetic. This is rather appropriate at a time when both of the big political parties are claiming Jefferson as their own patron saint. Such unanimity deserves commemoration in something even more precious than nickel.

Some doubts arise, however, as you contemplate
either side of this new jitney. The side containing a portrait of Jefferson says
in bold letters, "In God We Trust." The general impression is that Jefferson himself trusted only in the Constitution—as revised by him. And the bold engraving of Monticello on the other side, suggesting the Capitol Building at Washington more than a private

JUST FOLKS

(Copyright, 1937, Edgar A. Guest)

DECISION

This was the way it seemed to me:
The thing I did was what I should.
Some call it wrong; I think it is good.
No matter what the cost may be,
I weighed that rather carefully.
The price of it I understood.
And chose to pay it, since I could.
In that way staying conscience
free.

A fool, well, so 't would seem to day.
A silly blunder at its best.
At least that's what the critics
say.
Who have a loss and profit test.
Which proves it's difficult to do
A deed that's right and clever,
too.

BRITISH AND FRENCH UNION

At the end of the royal pageant in Paris and of the more important conference between French and British statesmen, the British war minister made an astonishing statement.

"It looks," said Leslie Hore-Belisha, "as though the two general staffs are as
one. The French tricolor
and the British Union Jack seem as one flag."

If this is truly the case it is hardly to the liking of the dictators. Yet they will have themselves chiefly to blame for the new accord
between Britain and France.
Democracies are learning
that they must work together in harmony and understanding and good will if they are to resist the encroachments of the dictatorships by peaceful means.

"One staff and one flag"
and two peoples that clearly recognize their mutual cause make for greater strength than one "axis"
between two capitals and two leaders and two peoples not wholly trusting
each other.

PERMANENT AID.

An arrangement is being planned in Paris for "permanent refugee aid" of distressed citizens fleeing from troubles in other countries.
The implication is that the need of assistance to such refugees is not regarded as a matter of a few emergency weeks or months,
but rather of a stream
flowing for years over the borders of friendly countries, a stream of frightened, unhappy people leaving homes settled for centuries, for the bewilderment of life in strange
lands.

The same newspaper
which announces this says
in another column that the Federal Surplus Commodities Commission has purchased thousands of winter coats left on the hands of makers by last winter's slump. The coats are to be given out as needed, to people without jobs who could not possibly buy warm garments for next winter.

These items sound unrelated, but are not. The whole world is moving in strange directions. If people could but stop thinking
such things as:

"If we could go back, we would be happy once more." Was the world ever really happy?

"If we could just change
present conditions, business would have security."
When was business ever secure?

"If Hitler were just out of power, and the Spaniards would sit down
around a table, Europe
could be at peace." When was the Old World ever all
at peace?

In simple words, if people could but look at their world as it now is, and not as they thought it was, or would like to see it, or dreamed that it could be;
if they could look beyond
individuals and see trends,
if they could then concentrate on their own public situations, the world might hope for real improvement.

Some of the CCC people say they have to show the beavers how to build dams.
In return, maybe the beavers
can show the men how to gnaw down trees.

Looke as if the Spanish
war don't end till the Loyalists and Rebels, like the Gingham Dog and Calico
Cat, eat each other up.

dwelling, will lead many a plain American to say,
"That's a pretty swell house
for a Democrat!"

LISTENING POSTS

"TECHNIQUE OF DECLINE"

If any nation wants to sink itself, here is a prescription, given by Dr.
Frank Kingdon, president of the University of Newark. All it has to do is to crush minorities. The rest is easy, because "national life without minorities grows uniform and at last, anemic."
"The interclashing of cultures sifts and reveals the values of all men. Interplay builds social strength. Dictators in the long run destroy the nations they seek to exalt. Exclusion is the
technique of decline."

It isn't wise to dismiss this merely as a hint to the Old World. We need to maintain in America a healthy respect for our minorities and a scrupulous regard for their rights. And if we had no minorities, the sensible thing would be to start right out creating some.

This principle holds not only in public life but also in private and business life.
A scrapping minority on a board of directors is usually a wholesome sign. A good motto for a business
executive would be, "Look out when everybody agrees with you."

FDR has gone adventuring among the pirate
haunts of the old Spanish Main. And wouldn't it be lovely if he brought back
a buried treasure that would put Uncle Sam in the black again?

The trouble is that the nations are using abrasives, refractories and irritants on each other, instead of solvents and lubricants.

That TVA investigation
begins to look like a dog
fight.

Arm Severed As Result Crash Of Cars on Highway

Elzie Wright, 24-year-old Groesbeck restaurant employee, was taken to the P. and S. Hospital about 5:30 Tuesday morning in a Corley ambulance for treatment for injuries received in a wreck at the intersection of highways 75 and 22 south of the city limits. The car in which he and another man were riding was reported to have figured in a collision with a truck and the impact severed Wright's right arm above the elbow. Except for shock he was otherwise uninjured
and the others in the collision
were not injured.
Sherman Lee O'Neil, Groesbeck
mechanic, was placed in the county jail charged by complaint with driving a car while intoxicated.
The complaint was signed by M.
R. Reed, state highway patrolman and was filed before Judge
A. E. Foster Tuesday morning.
Following a preliminary hearing, bond was set at $500 by Judge Foster and the case was

Farmers Cutting Down Cotton To Make More Cotton

Navarro county farmers, believe it or not, are cutting down the alternate rows of cotton in their fields in bottoms to increase the potential yield this fall.
This is particularly true in some sections of Chambers creek bottoms, J. N. George, Blooming Grove, county commissioner, ginner and farmer, reported while in Corsicana Monday afternoon.
Much of the stalk is as tall as a man and the sun cannot reach the lower branches of the huge stalk where the limbs and foliage
are matted thickly in the middle.
Stalk cutters are being used and in some instances plows are utilized.
With the alternate row eliminated, the producers believe the huge stalk will be enabled to secure the needed sun and will also have room in which the lower branches can spread with the attendant increase in production.
With the large amount of foliage and the matted branches under the single row arrangement,
little or no production can be reasonably expected as the sun
cannot reach that region.

IN FUTURE

"All department heads at the courthouse must have permission from the county judge and county auditor before any purchases are made, or the bills for same will not be paid when presented before the court."

The above order was unanimously passed by the commissioners' court Monday afternoon following a discussion of economy measures and decreased expenditures for the county departments.
J. C. Roe, assistant criminal district attorney in charge of delinquent tax collections, was asked about the slowing up of delinquent tax collections and prospects of collections soon. He pointed out that for the past several weeks
during the political campaign, few collections were secured, but advised the court that a number of suits would be filed immediately.
Roe said 150 would be filed in time for the October term of the Thirteenth judicial district court.
Commissioner T. P. Hayes was authorized to purchase a Chevrolet coupe, 1929 model, from Clarke
Butler for $70 for use on roads.
An International truck now owned by Hayes precinct is to be sold to Commissioner Joe George's

one of the trucks would be used while parts for its repair would be secured from the other.

Paul H. Miller, county judge, and E. Y. Cunningham, county auditor, were authorized to borrow $7,000 for the county. This will bring the indebtedness to $25-

Easing Pain!

Every practicing Physician has much for which to thank those Doctors and Scientists who perfected anaesthesia.

Ether, Chloroform and Gas have made it possible to abolish pain, save the patient's nerves and allow the Physician to perform a careful, pains-taking,
thorough operation with the smallest amount of danger.

What a humane boon to the race anaesthesia has proven to be. Contrast the quick, clean, painless hospitalization of the operative case today, and the terrible ordeals of an amputation, operation or child-birth before anaesthesia.

Physicians are truly thankful for anaesthesia and what it has made possible in medical practice.

Thank your lucky star you live in this enlightened, Scientific age.

9.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. William T.
Adee, prominent in Eastern society, were burned to death early today in a fire which destroyed
their big, rambling home.

Their 21-months old son, George T. Adee, their only heir, was saved by the heroism of a young nurse maid and a volunteer fireman with a broken arm.

The fireman, Anthony Reas,
handyman on a neighboring estate
was awakened by smoke and found the north end of the mansion, where Mr. and Mrs. Adee slept, enveloped in smoke and flames.
He heard a woman screaming
and in the nursery window, 12 feet above the ground on the south end of the house saw the maid, Lillian Henlon, 19 years old with the baby in her arms.
Reas, who had broken his right arm several days ago and was carrying it in a sling, shouted:
"Jump!"

Miss Henlon jumped, holding the baby tightly. Reas broke their fall by catching the weight in his left side.

Both man and girl were stunned
by the impact. The baby was unhurt.

BANKING LOOKS AHEAD

The Peak we never Reach

There are always those who believe that human progress has reached its final peak.
For example, in 1844 and again in 1886,
it was predicted by prominent men that
"improvement must soon end."

Today those predictions seem naive. Great new industries have since been born—air craft, automobiles, gasoline and radio to name a few. Billions in wealth and millions of jobs have been created.

The officers and directors of this bank believe that our country will go on to new and higher peaks. We stand ready to aid in the forward march of our community and nation.

PLANS DISCUSSED BY PUBLIC HEALTH UNIT COMMITTEE

TO OBSERVE THIRD ANNI- VERSARY SIGNING SOCIAL SECURITY ACT

The Public Health Unit Committee met in regular weekly session on Wednesday morning at the City Hall, with a splendid representation of its membership present. Plans were made for the commemoration of the third anniversary of the signing of the Social Security Act by the President, which is to be observed throughout the country during the week of August 14th. The celebration is being planned by civic, social, welfare and labor groups who have been urged by Margie E. Neal of the Social Security Board in Washington to co-operate by arranging appropriate programs.

Mrs. W. K. Steele was instructed to secure a speaker for the next meeting, which is planned for Wednesday of the coming week, details to be announced later.

During the business session, Mrs. Jack Roberts was asked to contact all County Parent-Teacher Associations, and invite them to send representatives to the meetings of the Public Health Unit Committee.

Series of Talks.
Announcement was made that Mrs. J. W. McAdams would give a series of talks on "Tuberculosis," the subjects of which would be "Pertinent Points About Tuberculosis," "What Tuberculosis Does to the Human Body," and "Prevention of Tuberculosis."

Mrs. McAdams then introduced and gave the first of her series of talks, which proved informational and featured "Pertinent Points About Tuberculosis." In the course of a splendid discussion by Mrs. McAdams, who is an authority on health subjects, she stated that tuberculosis is the leading cause of death in the United States among persons 15 to 45 years of age, but that the percentage of deaths had been cut from 202 out of every 200,000 in 1900 to 55 in 1935, which is a wonderful stride forward. Mrs. McAdams stated that the number of deaths, however, is still too large as in 1935 over 70,000 deaths were caused by tuberculosis in this country, adding that there are over 600,000 cases in existence at present.

Disease Not Hereditary.
The speaker next discussed the various facts essential for the tubercle bacilli's successful attack on the human body, as follows: Heredity, climate, season, age and race. Continuing the discussion, Mrs. McAdams stated that the disease is not hereditary, and that infection must take place from contact with someone who has tuberculosis, and that a kiss, a cough or a sneeze may carry the infection. It was pointed out that milk from infected cows cost a great many lives before tubercle bacilli were removed and pasteurization of milk.

Mrs. McAdams stated that climate has little to do with the virility of the disease germs, that the season of the year has some influence on the occurrence of tuberculosis, that the tubercle bacilli favor young adults, that race has a peculiar bearing on susceptibility to infection, and finally that occupation can favor infection.

Mrs. McAdams' next discussion before the committee will point out "What Tuberculosis Does to the Human Body" which proves of value to all who are interested in facts concerning preventable diseases.

SOMEBODY HAS BEEN 'SPOOFED' IN THINKING W. LEE O'DANIEL EVEN RESEMBLES HILL BILLY

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, Aug. 11.—(AP)—W. Lee O'Daniel, the Texas gubernatorial candidate, is being asked these days as more and more people, including many who helped build up the landslide of votes that won for him the democratic nomination for governor of Texas, read about O'Daniel, see pictures of him and his family, perhaps even talk with him.

The feeling seems to be growing that someone has been spoofed and that maybe O'Daniel isn't a hill billy after all, at least as the public generally envisions the type.

Within the capitol the opinion is developing that a joke has been played on somebody and that it wasn't on O'Daniel.

The writer did a little research on the subject of hill billys—it went no further, it must be admitted, than the dictionaries in the state library—and will attempt to apply it to O'Daniel.

Hardly Qualify.
By the dictionary, O'Daniel would hardly qualify as a hill billy. Nearly everyone who has met the Fort Worth flour merchant or heard him deliver a campaign speech, would agree on this without recourse to "the book," but the dictionary view is presented for what it may be worth.

One dictionary defines a hill billy as a "rough, uncouth countryman, specifically, one from the hill districts as opposed to the plains." Another says a hill billy is a "backwoodsman or mountaineer of the southern United States." It adds that the term is colloquial and often is used contemptuously.

Well, O'Daniel doesn't convey the impression of uncouthness; he doesn't appear rough; he doesn't live and hasn't lived in hills, mountains or backwoods.

He was born in Ohio, moved to Kansas when young and resided in that state until early childhood. Then he worked in Kansas City, spent five years in New Orleans and in 1925 moved to Fort Worth.

He is a handsome man, wears clothes well and his speech is grammatically correct, even when he is delivering a campaign address to an audience made up mostly of persons who never had much formal education.

Since he has grown up—his boyhood was spent largely on the Kansas farm of his stepfather—he has been strictly a city dweller. His business has been a big-city business; in 1933, he was president of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce and he was a pioneer among Texas business men in using radio for advertising.

In other words, he is, and he looks exactly like, the person he purported to be when he presented himself to the people of Texas as a candidate for governor. He is an up-to-date business man.

There is nothing hill billy about him, as to personal appearance, speech, habits and background.

Same goes for his family, which consists of his wife, his mother-in-law, Mrs. Belle Heinlen, his sons, Pat, 19, and Mike, 18, and his daughter, Mollie, 16.

"Hill Billy" Connection.
Where did the "hill billy" connection enter? There is no doubt the conception is well established in many minds, including those of out-of-state newspaper editors who wrote, some disparagingly, of the Texas election immediately after it was held.

One comment was that Texas was turning "wild and woolly" again. Another took the election as further evidence Texas was "fantastic" in its politics. "Hill Billy O'Daniel" was the designation given the nominee repeatedly. It all started, apparently, because O'Daniel's orchestra which he had used to advertise the brand of flour he sold was called "The Hill Billy Hill Billy Boys" and included in its repertoire some alleged "mountain music."

The "boys" really aren't hill billys any more than O'Daniel is. Two of them are Pat and Mike O'Daniel, just graduated from the Fort Worth high school and headed for freshman year at the University of Texas next year.

"Boys" Not All Boys.
The "boys" also aren't all boys. One is a 17-year-old girl, Texas Rose, whose real name is Kitty Williamson. All appear to be healthy, clean fun-loving young Americans, who would know their way about anywhere. There's no straw in their hair.

As to their music, this correspondent is no authority, but the played isn't his idea of "mountain" music. Rather it sounded like coking good political campaign tune-making born right here in Texas.

"Them hill billys are politicians now" and "I hate mountain music" boisterous, rollicking political doggerel set lively tunes. They heard often from the O'Daniel campaign bus were "Beautiful Texas," O'Daniel's own composition having a strong patriotic motif, and "I Want to Be a Cowboy Sweetheart," smacking of the Texas plains. "Home on the Range" also was rendered again and again.

Throughout most of the campaign the orchestra played three or four numbers at the start of the program. No more. Then O'Daniel arose and made a talk of from an hour to an hour and a half in length. His speech concerned mostly what he considered issues of the day, that is to say, "professional politicians," old age pensions, industrializing Texas and economy in government.

He told fewer jokes than some other candidates and his "wise-cracking" couldn't compare in quantity with at least one other candidate and it had no "hill billy" flavor.

So about the capitol folks are wondering if "hill billy" isn't a misnomer. If the nominee also isn't a hill billy, his orchestra also isn't hill billy and didn't play hill billy music, and the campaign, except for a bit of political campaign music at the start, isn't hill billy. Why call O'Daniel "hill billy"?

Whatever he is, they admit the people liked him.

CALL MEETING OF COMMITTEE TO PLAN STATUE UNVEILING

Plans for the formal unveiling of the Antonio Navarro statue at the court house lawn will be made at a meeting of the committee in charge of arrangements to be held at the Chamber of Commerce headquarters Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Meeting has been called by Richard Mays, chairman of the committee, and the leader in the movement to secure the statue of the Texas patriot for whom Navarro court was named.

Lieutenant Governor Walter Woodul of Houston was invited to make the principal address at the unveiling ceremonies for the statue several months ago and accepted the invitation. Woodul was one of the leaders in the Centennial movement from which this statue for Navarro county was a result.

Workmen finished the installation of the statue on the Texas red granite stand immediately in front of the main entrance of the court house during the week-end. The statue has been covered by county authorities until such time as the unveiling ceremonies are held.

The children made waste baskets, bookshelves, mats, flower stands and mounted Bible pictures. Many of these articles are to be left in the church and the Sunday school rooms. The rooms were decorated with flowers arranged by the girls of the school.

Strike Brings Shrimp Dumpings In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Shrimp were dumped in New Orleans today in a strike involving prices for the seafood and catches by non-union fishermen. Five truckloads of shrimp for delivery to the French Market in New Orleans were dumped and kerosene poured over the shrimp. Similar dumpings of catches was reported from Burbas, about 90 miles down the Mississippi river from New Orleans.

The Union men who struck suddenly today said they were opposed the non-union fishermen catching in catches and dumped them. The union men are members of the Louisiana Trappers and Fishermen's Union.

On the other hand the shrimp packing factories were reported objecting to the price of $8.50 a barrel set for shrimp because they claimed the shrimp were too small to command that price.

An undetermined number of men were involved in the strike and it was reported that the strike was spreading in the Louisiana coast area.

Seventh Ganglike Chicago Slaying In Seven Weeks

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Daylight slaying of a gangster-style slaying in Chicago within seven weeks and the second within 24 hours.

Huddled near a wall of the Chicago White Sox baseball field, the body of Sam (Frog Legs) Picciotto, 23, was found by passers-by shortly after daylight.

The spot is less than a mile from where James G. Duncan, business agent of a painters union, was slain last night.

Police said Picciotto was shot twice through the neck from close range with a 25 calibre pistol. Tire skid tracks indicated, officers said, that the body was thrown from an automobile.

Picciotto, who detectives said possessed a minor police record, lived less than a block from the home of Neck Chiaromonte, a fruit dealer, whose gang type slaying July 24 is still unsolved.

Picciotto's pockets were turned inside out, but several coins lay near the body and detectives surmised that robbery was only the alibi for murder. An investigation was begun to determine if the slaying was connected with the ambush of Duncan.

The 35-year-old union czar, who frustrated an attempt on his life in 1934, was murdered in front of his home. The shooting followed by only 36 hours the assassination of two political workers on the West Side.

ARREST OF HIGHWAY LAWS VIOLATORS IS HEAVILY INCREASED

AUSTIN, August 9.—(Sp.)—Arrests of truck drivers hauling excess loads and otherwise violating registration laws have increased 25 per cent since the department of Public Safety created a special detail of state police for that type of enforcement work last June, according to Captain Homer Garrison, Jr., assistant public safety director.

While the special unit of plain clothemen was directing attention to load law violators, state patrolmen, relieved of that responsibility, brought about a 14 per cent reduction in traffic deaths on Texas highways.

The license and weight inspectors, all veterans in that type of work, lodged 1,562 complaints against commercial vehicle operators in July. Violations of the 7,000 pound load limit law were charged in 1,395 of the cases; 39 were for improper registrations; 14 for failure to have chauffeur licenses; 33 for speeding and 70 for other motor code offenses according to J. W. Longley, chief inspector of the new division.

Until the new unit was assigned to duty recently, patrolmen had divided their activities between law weighing of trucks and enforcement of moving traffic law offenses. Under the new operating plan mounted patrolmen direct their activities toward assisting motorists and reducing speeding, careless driving and other violations which most death-dealing accidents are traceable. "This new system has brought gratifying results," Captain Garrison said. "Every man can perform his duties with a maximum of efficiency when he does not have to divide his time. The good results are shown in the increased truck law violation arrests and the sharp decline in traffic tolls."

It's the bird's favorite perch. Ripley explains that he believes there are only two such parrots on the American continent; they were given him by New Guinea cannibals.

Most important to an army which must always look to its food supply is the reclamation of swamp land, and the former loyalist soldiers spend their days draining marshy ground. Beauty Diary

of Edna Kent Forbes
RENEWAL OF ENERGY.

Read in today's talk the account Miss Forbes gives of her method of keeping herself youthful and vigorous in spite of long hours of work and what might be considered "middle aged."

One of the health teachers recently told him she managed to accomplish so much more than the average person, and do it without fatigue—growing younger and healthier with each year. She said she had disciplined herself, advising it for all women who they care about their appearance.

One thing was: never permit yourself to slump, a n d E. K. Forbes, when you opened your eyes in the morning, it was to get up and begin the day with zeal, and have a purpose for doing whatever was done over the waking hours. She evidently, had disciplined herself so when she went to bed at night, or even if she allowed herself a short nap late of an afternoon when she needed recuperation, she told herself, she was to go to sleep, so she would awaken refreshed. Apparently, she wasted no time about it, recharging her body with fresh energy whenever she was in need of it.

That she had succeeded no one could doubt, for she was radiant after a long day of two classes, followed by an evening lecture, and as fresh looking at midnight as when she appeared before her morning students. She had disciplined herself so long, she forgot how she had trained herself to do with her advice was "just do it, stop fooling with yourself and wasting your energy, and youth, lying awake when you need sleep. Then get right up and live grandly through whatever day is before you, no matter what the job may be."

It has been said of our "First Lady" that her extraordinary energy is mostly due to her complete control and through disciplining herself always. When tired, she will refresh herself fully, even though in a crowd of people. She doesn't even have to go to sleep to do it either. It is worth cultivating, and any of us may make the start by neither slumping, nor being over-indulgent with ourselves.

Mrs. W.—You are having some scalp trouble or your hair would not be in the condition you mention. The weak and dead hairs will have to come out, so do not mind if there are handfuls; but you should be getting the scalp in a healthy state and new hair will be taking the place of these loosened hairs. If you had requested a mailed reply, and sent the necessary stamped, self-addressed envelope, I would have forwarded the formula for a wonderful scalp tonic that would help no matter what the trouble with your scalp. However, begin at once to get the blood circulating, and to do this, massage the scalp every day until you feel it all aglow with the warmth that comes from new blood circulating through all the tissues. Your scalp may be very tight to the head bones and the lack of circulation, when in that condition, means that everything is being starved; poor hair, or weakened hair, and very little new hair to replace the old and falling hair. Vitalize your scalp now by these daily massages, and send for the tonic formula if you wish it.

Jeanne—With hazel eyes, dark brows and lashes, copper colored hair, and a white skin, you have numerous colors and shades to choose from. Green, mossy copper ones, would make your hair even more brilliant in color than with other colors. Blues, such as turquoise and the blue-greens of jade will be fine, also browns that are not ordinary and earthy, but get the becoming from red-brown and golden ones.

NEW INCIDENT ON MANCHOU-KUO-SIBERIAN BORDER MAY REKINDLE FLAME

By The Associated Press.

A "cease firing" order on the embattled Siberian-Manchoukuo frontier today ended, at least temporarily, the danger of large scale Japanese-Russian hostilities.

Both sides agreed to a truce after a peace party in Moscow between Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Russian foreign commissar, and Mamoru Shigemitsu.

The spark that might kindle a new incident still burned. Troops remained in the area and the fundamental issue still was unresolved.

On the China front, a Japanese force toward Hankow, Chinese provisional capital 135 miles up the Yangtze river. Chinese, however, said they killed 300 invaders in a counter-attack and forced them to withdraw, prolonging the deadlock on the Yangtze's marshy banks.

Japanese air raiders heavily bombed industrial and waterfront areas in the tri-city area of which Hankow is a part. Across the river from the seat of government they dropped explosives in Hanyang and Wuchang. Fires were started which burned rapidly and heavy casualties were feared.

Seventeen Chinese and seven Russian international settlement policemen were injured in Shanghai quelling a rebellion in a Chinese concentration camp. The prisoners defied orders to lower the flag of the central government and the police tried forcibly to do it themselves. GIRDLER Girdler, last of more than 300 witnesses examined in connection with the widespread 1937 strike, said in a prepared statement that he had heard "an undercurrent of rumor for months that because our company signed no contract with the C. I. O., the real purpose of the present session was to 'smear' Republic Steel Corporation, chiefly Tom Girdler and his associates with the C. I. O."

Girdler asked Chairman LaFollette (Prog.-Wis.) for permission to read his statement before being questioned by committeemen. LaFollette denied the request, saying such permission had been refused other witnesses. The chairman added, however, Girdler could offer the statement later for introduction into the record.

Girdler said in his statement he was filing with the committee, the record of 550 cases of violence and intimidation by the C. I. O. Republic, he said, is "prepared to produce hundreds of witnesses to support these charges."

Insists on Investigation.

"In view of these facts," he said in a prepared statement read to the committee, "I respectfully insist that the committee investigate the violations of the civil rights and liberties of American citizens by the C. I. O."

Girdler vigorously defended his action in refusing to sign a contract with the S. W. O. C. last year. It was this action, coupled with similar refusal by other "little steel" companies, which brought on the 1937 strike.

He said Republic officials were convinced that, (1) a majority of their employees "did not want start of the warfare in Shanghai. Fighting in the Spanish warfare spread to three fronts.

Insurgents launched an offensive against the rich Almaden mining country in Southwest Spain. The government said its troops were widening a breach in the insurgent lines south of the Badajoz Bridgehead, across the Segre river in western Catalonia. In Southern Catalonia insurgents reported they were beginning to put pressure on the Gandesa front.

us to sign," (2) that such a contract was the first step toward a closed shop and the check-off, and (3) that the C. I. O. was "not under responsible leadership and that communistic influences were dominating its activities."

"Because we took that stand and were able to maintain it," Girdler complained, "the name of Republic and the name of Tom Girdler have been held up before the country and before this committee as the embodiment of all that is wrong in the treatment of employees."

"That is the penalty, apparently, that must be paid by anyone who dares thwart the purposes and methods of the C. I. O. our crime is not the ill-treatment of our employees—it consists simply of our refusal to sign a contract with the C. I. O."

Girdler contended the strike and its attendant disorders need never have occurred were it not that C. I. O. leaders "arrogantly refuse to recognize any form of collective bargaining as legal unless it bears the C. I. O. label."

"Unfortunately for the country," he added, "that is a philosophy that seems to be largely shared by the national labor relations board."

"It is now clear to every thinking person that the whole new program theoretically designed to produce peace in industry has in fact plunged the country into a period of unprecedented industrial turmoil and strife."

As a solution, Girdler proposed changes in the national labor relations act:

1. Separation of the labor board's powers to act as "combined investigator, prosecutor, judge and jury."

2. Amendment of the act to permit employers as well as employees to bring complaints.

Constitutionally Challenged.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—(AP)—The Republic Steel Corporation challenged the constitutionality of the Wagner labor relations act today at a hearing before the labor relations board.

Luther Day, counsel for the corporation, contended that under the workings of the act, his company had been denied due process of law, specifically that the board failed to afford an opportunity to argue one of its proposed orders. The order dealt with charges of discrimination against men who participated in the 1937 "Little Steel" strike.

While Day spoke, the senate civil liberties committee was hearing from Tom Girdler, chairman of the corporation's board, his own story of the sanguine strike and company policies involved.
